EDUCATION

Harvard Law School, J.D. 2003, cum laude

- Harvard Journal of Law & Technology, Articles Editor
- Harvard Journal on Legislation, Supervising Editor (for Congressional issue)
- Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition, ASCAP, First Prize (paper on copyright law)

University of Michigan-Ann Arbor, B.A. 1998 in English, with Honors

- Phi Beta Kappa
- National Merit Scholar
- Michigan Competitive Scholar
- Angell Scholar

LEGAL PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

University of Nebraska-Lincoln, College of Law, Lincoln, Nebraska

Assistant Professor of Law, August 2008-August 2011

- Co-led Nebraska's Space, Cyber & Telecom Law Program. Congress appropriated $1.8 million to the program, under Sen. Ben Nelson's leadership, and the Program had a close, founding relationship with U.S. Strategic Command, in Omaha, which has jurisdiction over space and cyber warfare matters.
- Supervised the theses of U.S. Air Force attorneys assigned to my program to study cyber and national security law before their appointments to Air Force Cyber Command and U.S. Cyber Command.
- Taught International Telecommunications Law (including Cybersecurity), Cyberlaw, and Domestic Telecommunications Law.
- Organized conferences with leading policy makers, spoke at conferences and with the press, produced scholarship and commentary on leading technology issues.
- Served as faculty co-advisor of Student Intellectual Property Law Association and American Constitution Society.

Free Press, Washington, D.C.

General Counsel, August 2007-August 2008; Senior Advisor, August 2008—January 2011

- Top policy counsel for national advocacy group with 500,000 activists and 40 staff members.
- Directed legal strategy for Free Press, including for media ownership, spectrum, freedom of information, network neutrality, and national and state broadband policy.
- Directed legal strategy for Free Press, consumer groups, and technology companies on the seminal network neutrality complaint and petition against Comcast regarding interference with peer-to-peer services such as BitTorrent. Directed and coordinated with nationally recognized technologists, academics, advocates at the leading technology companies, and lawyers in nonprofit and private sector; testified at congressional briefings and official F.C.C. hearing; helped shape public and press messaging; coordinated with and lobbied Congressional staff regarding the F.C.C. proceeding. Later argued appeal before D.C. Circuit on behalf of intervening consumer groups and corporate coalition partners.

Georgetown University Law Center: Institute for Public Representation, Washington, D.C.
Teaching Fellow/Staff Attorney, August 2005-August 2007

- Working with Clinic Director, managed a media-policy clinic educating 3Ls through participation in rulemakings and litigation in high-profile cases before the F.C.C., Sixth Circuit, and D.C. Circuit.
- Handled cases involving broadcast ownership limits, network neutrality, digital transition public interest obligations, multicast must-carry, video franchising, FOIA of agency studies (which resulted in congressional attention and an F.C.C. investigation), and broadcast adjudications. Helped negotiate existing digital television requirements for children's educational programming, including the current three-hour safe harbor.

Kirkland & Ellis LLP, Chicago, Illinois
Associate, October 2003-August 2005

- Litigated in district and appellate courts regarding technology patents, private equity transactions, and accounting fraud. Argued a pro bono criminal case before Seventh Circuit.
